The Colorado Demography Office (CDO) holds its annual meeting to review its basic assumptions and methods so that its statistics, estimates, and forecasts are as accurate as possible. These meetings also serve to make data users aware of what is available and to discuss issues related to their accuracy and use.

This year's agenda includes the state economic forecast, an update on the office's demographic activities and reports from the state's regions. The luncheon speaker will be Colorado's well-known pollster, Floyd Ciruli.

Also, we are offering our attendees a choice of breakout sessions. In the afternoon, attendees will have a chance to attend two of three breakout sessions.

Overview of Breakout Sessions:

Session A: "How a Region Works" Latest Developments in the Use of the Data
Hosted by: Jim Westkott, Director CDO

Session B: TIGER, Demography Office GIS & Housing Unit Initiative
Hosted by: Cindy DeGroen, CDO
Jim Castagneri, U.S. Census Bureau
Sheila Dorrell, GIS Analyst CDO
Richard Lin, Estimates Demographer, CDO

Session C: Data Boot Camp
Hosted by Rebecca Picaso, a demonstration & introduction to Census Bureau products: Landview 6, PUMS and American Community Survey Web Data Server
